Human Trafficking Survivor Exhibit To Raise Awareness at Atlanta Airport
Hartsfield-Jackson, Delta Air Lines and Rotary International partner for photo display

ATLANTA – Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport and Delta Air Lines are partnering with Rotary International to bring awareness to human trafficking with the installation of a temporary photography exhibit.

The installation will feature the Girls Education and Mentoring Services’ “More Than a Survivor” exhibit, with large portraits of human trafficking survivors and their stories on display in the Domestic Terminal atrium from June 15-22. This exhibit adds to an already-robust presence of anti-human trafficking initiatives launched by the Airport in the past several months.

A projected 27 million people are victims of forced labor and sexual exploitation, and many are transported across domestic and international borders. In the U.S. alone, 1.5 million victims are trafficked, and one woman or child is trafficked into the U.S. every 10 minutes.

WHO: Jan Lennon, Director of Security, Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport
Stephanie Asbury, Vice President, Global Talent Management, Diversity and Engagement, Delta Air Lines
Dave McCleary, Director, Rotarian Action Group Against Child Slavery for the Americas

WHAT: Press conference to launch weeklong photo exhibit raising awareness of human trafficking. The installation of the “More Than a Survivor” exhibit, featuring portraits of human trafficking survivors, will be on display at the Atlanta airport.

WHEN: 10 a.m. Friday, June 16

WHERE: Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport
Domestic Terminal atrium
6000 N. Terminal Parkway
Atlanta, GA 30320
