A photograph of two women sitting at a restaurant bar. The woman on the left is wearing a green dress and has dark hair. The woman on the right is wearing a blue dress and has blonde hair. They are both smiling and looking at each other. On the bar, there are several glasses of wine and a plate of food. In the background, there are other tables and chairs, and a large mirror reflecting the interior of the restaurant.

Shop on the Fly, Earn When You Buy

The world's busiest airport just became a little more rewarding thanks to ATL's new loyalty program, ATL Rewards. The more points you earn, the more rewards you receive. Check out our tips below to find out how you can earn points.

1. JUST SIGN UP!

For a limited time, receive 100 points just for signing up. Visit atl.com/rewards to create a new account. Once your account is created, register your debit or credit card(s). There's no need to present an app or coupon; your purchases are linked to your account each time you use a registered card.

2. GO SHOPPING

Did you know that ATL has hundreds of retailers and services? With stores like MAC Cosmetics, XpresSpa, InMotion Entertainment and Brooks Brothers, you have tons of options. So, get to ATL a little early to shop, relax and refresh, while simultaneously earning points.

3. HAVE A BITE

With an array of dining options on all seven of ATL's concourses, it's easy to rack up reward points while enjoying a meal. Grab a bite to go or dine in at one of our popular restaurants. Either way, you'll earn points.

4. PARK

Ridesharing might be popular, but parking at Hartsfield-Jackson is still the No. 1 option among travelers, due to lots located just steps away from the terminals. Now, in addition to convenience and affordability, you can include earning rewards as a great reason to park at ATL.

Once you've earned points, head back to atl.com/rewards to track them. The site also provides a list of all of your redemption options, and lucky for you, you've got a lot to choose from. ATL Rewards members enjoy discounts and vouchers for perks like airline miles, hotel points, movie tickets and more. A full list of rewards can be found on the website.

As a bonus, ATL Rewards is expanding its reach outside of Hartsfield-Jackson. Travelers and residents can earn points at local attractions including the High Museum of Art and the Georgia Aquarium. New places are constantly being added to the program, which means you'll have even more reason to explore the city of Atlanta and be rewarded.

*100 points for signing up is a limited time offer. Void where prohibited. No purchase required.

Welcome to Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport

John Selden
John Selden
Airport General Manager

On behalf of Atlanta Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms and the entire ATL team, we welcome you to Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport, the world's busiest and most efficient airport. ATL proudly holds the distinction of being the first airport in the world to serve more than 100 million passengers in a single year.

First named the busiest airport in the world in 2000, we have remained at the top of the list every subsequent year. On any given day, an average of 275,000 passengers arrive and depart on 2,700 flights from ATL under the control of an amazing team of FAA air traffic controllers. Additionally, we have maintained a No. 1 efficiency ranking for 15 consecutive years.

Beyond our position as a major transportation hub, you'll also find ATL is home to a world-class concessions program. In this first edition of Destination Skypointe, a publication dedicated to all things shopping, we feature the Airport's exceptional retail, dining and service options. Inside these pages is something that will surely whet your appetite.

ATL is a global gateway to and from more than 150 domestic and 70 international locations. Among them are major commercial centers in Europe, Asia, the Caribbean, Africa and South and Central America. And yet, right here in Atlanta, you'll find a concessions program that measures up to the best anywhere in the world. Thank you for choosing ATL for your travel needs and enjoy our Southern hospitality.

You've landed at Hartsfield-Jackson, a global leader in the aviation industry. ATL is also proud to be an epicenter of best-in-class retail options through our award-winning concessions program, ATL Skypointe.

In many ways, ATL is more than an airport. It's a destination featuring more than 300 commercial venues exceeding shopping, dining and service needs every day. And our multifaceted art program integrates permanent and rotating exhibits and musical performances into the fabric of the guest experience.

Through this Destination Skypointe publication, we hope to give you a more personalized view of our offerings. With so many options, ATL Skypointe provides something for everyone. So take a little time to shop, dine and explore.

Again, welcome to Hartsfield-Jackson. Your experience starts here.

What is ATL | SKYPOINTE

Did you know that in addition to being the busiest airport in the world, Hartsfield-Jackson also houses one of the country's largest malls, ATL Skypointe? With over 300 service, dining and shopping locations, ATL Skypointe covers each concourse at ATL, which means that you can shop, dine and explore no matter where you are.

From Southern staple Popeye's Louisiana Kitchen to Michelin star winning One Flew South, there are treats and eats to satisfy any craving.

Hartsfield-Jackson also boasts a robust selection of retailers, including two MAC Cosmetics locations and two Duty Free Stores.

If you're looking to decompress before your flight, we advise stopping by XpresSpa for a massage, Minute Suites for a quick pre-flight nap or Maison Mathis Belgium Beer Transit for a cocktail.

So, the next time you fly from, to or through ATL, don't hug your gate. Venture out to discover all that ATL Skypointe has to offer. Welcome to Atlanta. We hope to see you again soon.

Open June 2018, ATL Shops by Hudson is like five amazing stores all rolled into one. This new mega-shop on Concourse F has everything you need to prepare to fly and a few things you didn't know you needed.

Inside you will find a mini-mart stocked with travel-friendly favorites like chips, cold sandwiches, beverages and snacks. There's also a bookstore with all of the latest bestsellers, an interesting assortment of unique gifts, or to commemorate your trip, jewelry, vinyl records (you read that right!), and a candy shop stocked with a full array of new and nostalgic treats that would make Willy Wonka blush. Does this even sound like a place that would be found in an airport? Not to mention sunglasses and accessories boutique 5th & Sunset as well as global luxury brand Tumi enhance the array.

If you plan to stop at ATL Shops by Hudson, I recommend you give yourself some extra time to really look around. I'm sure you'll love it.

Laticia Rolle, founder of Tress, lifestyle blogger BluHazzl.com finds herself in the Atlanta Airport five times a week.

“I am constantly on the go and the ATL Airport has become my second home,” she said. “When I’m traveling for business, I look forward to getting to the Airport early and going to my fave restaurant, Paschal’s Southern Cuisine, where I grab a table and people watch until it’s time to catch my flight.”

When she’s not indulging at a restaurant, she’s shopping before she boards her plane. Here are some of her favorite places to shop:

MAC COSMETICS + L’OCCITANE EN PROVENCE

“Living an on-the-go lifestyle, lotion and lip gloss are my must-haves. On BluHazzl.com, we talk all things beauty and MAC and L’Occitane are two of my stops for beauty essentials. I’m always picking up MAC lip gloss, Ruby Woo lipstick and L’Occitane Shea Butter hand cream.”

INMOTION ENTERTAINMENT

“I shop here almost every time I go to the Airport for chargers and headphones. It’s the perfect place for all of my tech needs and gifts while I’m traveling.”

SIMPLY BOOKS

“I love going into the bookstore and finding new reads for my trips. I try to read a new book on my flights each month. I never leave the Airport without a new read. I’m totally a romance, entrepreneur, self-help and mystery reader. One of my favorite books I recently picked up is “The Four Agreements” by Don Miguel Ruiz.”

The Air Up

There

Celebrated savants of Atlanta's social, economic and cultural scenes gather at its epicenter – Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport – and discuss what keeps them elevated in a city that knows no bounds!

Let's be honest - It's nearly impossible to mention the City of Atlanta without including the words "influence," "leading" or "historic." Being the home base of the world's busiest airport speaks directly to that notion. Hundreds of thousands travel through the Airport—from dignitaries and personalities to game-changers and national treasures. But among the traffic that the ATL welcomes and bids farewell to, stands firmly a group of influential residents who carry the city's progression on their shoulders.

Enter Justin Anthony, Jasmine Crowe, DJ EU, Abbey Glass, Tahira Joy, Karim Lateef, Seung Hee Lee, Dana Spinola and Ryan Wilson, our Destination Skypointe starting nine whose fly we admire and whose influential footprint is #goals. We gathered these in-demand MVPs for our inaugural cover shoot and sought their insights about their favorite things about the vibrant city that is Atlanta.

"ATLANTA REMINDS ME OF MY HOME IN JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA—FROM THE WEATHER TO THE PEOPLE—SO THAT GIVES ME THE ENERGY NEEDED TO CREATE COMFORTABLY. ATLANTA IS PERFECT FOR CREATING NEW EXPERIENCES."

Justin Anthony
Founder, True Story Brands
truestorybrands.com
@justinanthony10

Justin Anthony is nothing if not driven. He showed that in his career as a professional soccer player, and translated that passion in another venue when he opened the first South African restaurant in the United States right here in Atlanta. Now, with five restaurants under his designer belt, Anthony couldn't be happier that he and his wife decided to set up shop down south.

What is it about Atlanta that puts you in a position to thrive?

Atlanta reminds me of my home in Johannesburg, South Africa—from the weather to the people—so that gives me the energy needed to create comfortably. Atlanta is perfect for creating new experiences.

If someone is visiting Atlanta for a huge weekend, what's a must-do in the city?

I'm going to be a little biased and say that one of my restaurants is absolutely a must-do!

What's your favorite thing or guilty pleasure about Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport?

My wife and I travel a lot, so we're always in the Airport. We love to have a cocktail together and I love to make sure I get some Popeye's fried chicken! This Airport is so unique because of the perfect mix of national and local cuisine.

Jasmine Crowe
CEO and Founder, Goodr
goodr.co
@jasminecrowe

Anna Thomas once said, “We all eat, and it would be a sad waste of opportunity to eat badly.” Jasmine Crowe and her food management company, Goodr, have the resources from an impressive roundup of restaurants and brands to make sure travelers in Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport never have a bad experience. Additionally, the Goodr app provides donation services to distribute unused food to local non-profits and homeless residents.

How does Atlanta allow you to be at your best?

The ecosystem and the support from fellow entrepreneurs. It seems as though we all want to see each other win. In July 2017, I won a pitch competition called ATL Thinks! and the whole city got behind me, my company and this effort. I’m not an Atlanta native, but when that happened, that’s when Atlanta was solidified as my home.

What are some of your favorite Atlanta spots?

Old Lady Gang. Piedmont Park and walking and pretending to work out. Flying Biscuit and Murphy’s. If you come to Atlanta, you need to go and eat!

What do you love about the Atlanta Airport?

What stands out for me is that this Airport is on the way to going green. We move about anywhere from 3,000 to 5,000 meals every week to the Atlanta community. But other than that, I love the food, of course and being able to dip into one of the (Delta) Sky Clubs!

DJ EU
Professional DJ
djeu.com
@thedjeu

They say that you are the company you keep, and if that mantra truly holds credence, DJ EU and his international musical influence should always be acknowledged with the revelry of a top-performing all star. An Atlanta nightlife and on-air staple, and resident DJ for the city's championship winning MLS Team, Atlanta United FC, DJ EU has loaned his sonic savvy to festivals including Tomorrowland and One MusicFest and locales from New York to Paris and Chile. This explains what earned him Jezebel magazine's coveted "Atlanta's Best DJ" honor in 2018.

What is it about Atlanta that puts you in a position to thrive, create and be at your best?

There's something that wasn't there when I started my area. I wanted to achieve that which was the brand new, multicultural melting pot that wasn't here. I had the opportunity to move to New York, but decided to stay here to make a bigger mark.

Where can we find the best of the best in Atlanta?

Enjoy BBQ. There is also the BeltLine and cool things like Ponce City Market.

What is your go-to restaurant at Hartsfield-Jackson?

Panda Express in (Concourse) E!

Abbey Glass
Abbey Glass
abbey-glass.com
@abbeyglassstudio

Because Abbey Glass knows residents of the city of Atlanta are constantly looking for something special, new and creative, she acknowledges its key in the success of her burgeoning brand of tailored clothes for women. With classic sensibility that gives it Southern charm and edge that offers a wordly flair, her clothes—like Atlanta—celebrate the power of creative collaboration, something the city does so well!

Why Atlanta?

Being in Atlanta puts me in a position to grow and thrive as a business because it has a lot of very creative-minded people who are looking for new things that not everyone else has. There's a really good mix of a love for commercial brands and a love for special things or designer brands or special events or opportunities that are once-in-a-lifetime type of opportunities. So I think the residents of Atlanta have definitely set me up for success because they are craving that type of creativity and newness.

Where's your favorite place to take out-of-town friends when they visit Atlanta?

Well, I'm very biased, but I usually direct people to Ponce City Market. That's where we have our flagship store. But I do think that even if we weren't there, it's a melting pot of lots of different things. Exciting events happen there, there are great satellite restaurants of bigger restaurants that are in Atlanta. You get a little taste of everything that Atlanta has to offer in one building. I think it's a really creative concept.

How do you pass time while waiting for a flight at ATL?

Oooh! I have to say that Duty Free (Americas) is my guilty pleasure. Trying on lipstick when I either have a delayed flight or I get there too early is probably my most guilty pleasure pastime, and also smelling all the perfumes. I'm mostly a clothing-oriented person, so that's really fun for me!

Karim Lateef
Senior Lifestyle Manager,
The Fader/Martell
@KarimLateef

Karim Lateef's professional title may read as one thing, but in his life's work, he moonlights as a visual artist, producing stunningly captivating work. A large risk-taker, even bigger thinker and insatiable student of cultural curriculum, Lateef's vision has impacted multiple industries and platforms, from music to spirits, as a result of his world travels and life lessons. The next time you enjoy a masterfully crafted cocktail or understand art on a new level, you may simultaneously be believing in the magic of one of the city's most consistently fascinating!

What about Atlanta made you decide to call it your home?

There's so much. This is one of the most creative cities that I've ever lived in, with a certain cultural explosiveness to the city. You walk out and breathe the air in Atlanta and it just makes you want to create. I think there is a very contagious spirit of entrepreneurship in the city, so much so that it's one of the few cities that I've ever lived in where I feel almost embarrassed to have a nine-to-five. Everyone here is an entrepreneur. Everyone is creating and doing something new and original. I just feel like Atlanta makes you want to be your best you!

Name at least one landmark in the city that's a must-see.

Atlanta—there's so much diversity here and I want to make sure that they get the history. You have to go to Martin Luther King Jr.'s house and neighborhood (Old Fourth Ward). And then the High Museum (midtown). So you see, there's a very wide breadth of culture here in the city.

What's one thing you must do while at Hartsfield-Jackson?

My guilty pleasure has to be Savannah's Candy Kitchen because my favorite candy/dessert/treat is pralines. I'm addicted to them, so every time I come to the Airport, I have to stop and get a bag!

Seung Hee Lee
Author, Teacher, Chef
thekoreanfusion.com
@koreanfusion

What do you get when you experience a person whose name means both “rising sun” and “make others happy”? You become privy to the perfect amalgam of a pack-leading chef, cookbook author and social media star. And did we mention she’s also an epidemiologist?

What do you love the most about Atlanta?

First and foremost, Atlanta is very diverse, and as a Korean chef, having diversity is very important. There’s a really large Korean community just a couple minutes north of Atlanta, in Duluth, so that’s really nice. Also, the community is really open-minded and it’s also quite young in a sense of the culinary scene. It’s not like New York or Chicago where it’s already fully concentrated. I think there is a lot of room to grow in Atlanta especially with different kinds of ethnic cuisines. I think Korean food is thriving in this day and age right now so I think I’m in a really good place.

Outside of the Airport, where are the best eats in the city?

Well, I’d say you have to eat two things. One offering is Kimball House. It’s my favorite restaurant for oysters. Another one would be pop-ups. Right now, Atlanta is thriving in a lot of pop-up scenes. So if you pay attention to social media, you’ll find a Thai pop up, a bread pop up, an Italian pop up and even Korean pop ups—which I usually do quite a bit!

What about inside ATL? Where do you usually grab a bite before your flight?

I have a whole routine because ATL Airport is like my second home! I go to Varasano’s Pizzeria in Terminal A, grab a Nana’s pizza and eat half. I take the other half on the plane and polish it off with a beer. It’s served me well!

Also a Global Runway ambassador, Vincent shares his lifestyle insights via his online base fashionado.net.

What is it about the city of Atlanta?

(V) I've been in Atlanta for more than two decades now, so I've seen it grow and I feel like I've grown with it. I feel like I've also found myself really artistically, creatively and professionally in Atlanta and I really just thrive on that energy.

(A) I love Atlanta. I love the space where it's been and where it's going... the changing of all the neighborhoods. There's such a great scene of art and culture here. There are great restaurants and great shopping.

If someone's visiting the city for the first time, where would you send them?

(V) Here's the beauty of Atlanta - there's something for everybody. If you want to do the real touristy things, visit CNN, the (Georgia) Aquarium and Coca-Cola, you've got that. If you're like Alex mentioned, into arts and culture, you can do the High Museum and the Atlanta Botanical Gardens (midtown).

How do you make the most of your layover time at the ATL Airport?

(V) We love a good dirty martini at one of the nice restaurants. And the other thing, especially if you've got a bit of a layover - there's great, high-end shopping here.

(A) And there are great restaurants here. This Airport has come so far and it's really a fantastic place to be! It makes a layover feel like a mini vacation.

"WE LOVE A GOOD DIRTY MARTINI AT ONE OF THE NICE RESTAURANTS IN THE AIRPORT. AND THE OTHER THING, ESPECIALLY IF YOU'VE GOT A BIT OF A LAYOVER – THERE'S GREAT, HIGH-END SHOPPING HERE."

@danaspinola

There's something about a girl with style and Dana Spinola has "chic" running through her veins. The Atlanta native and founder of Fab'rik Boutiques loves her city and the pomp and circumstance that surrounds it. Though her interests and business take her to other cities including Knoxville, Memphis and Birmingham, this peach will always have Georgia on her mind.

What do you appreciate the most about Atlanta?

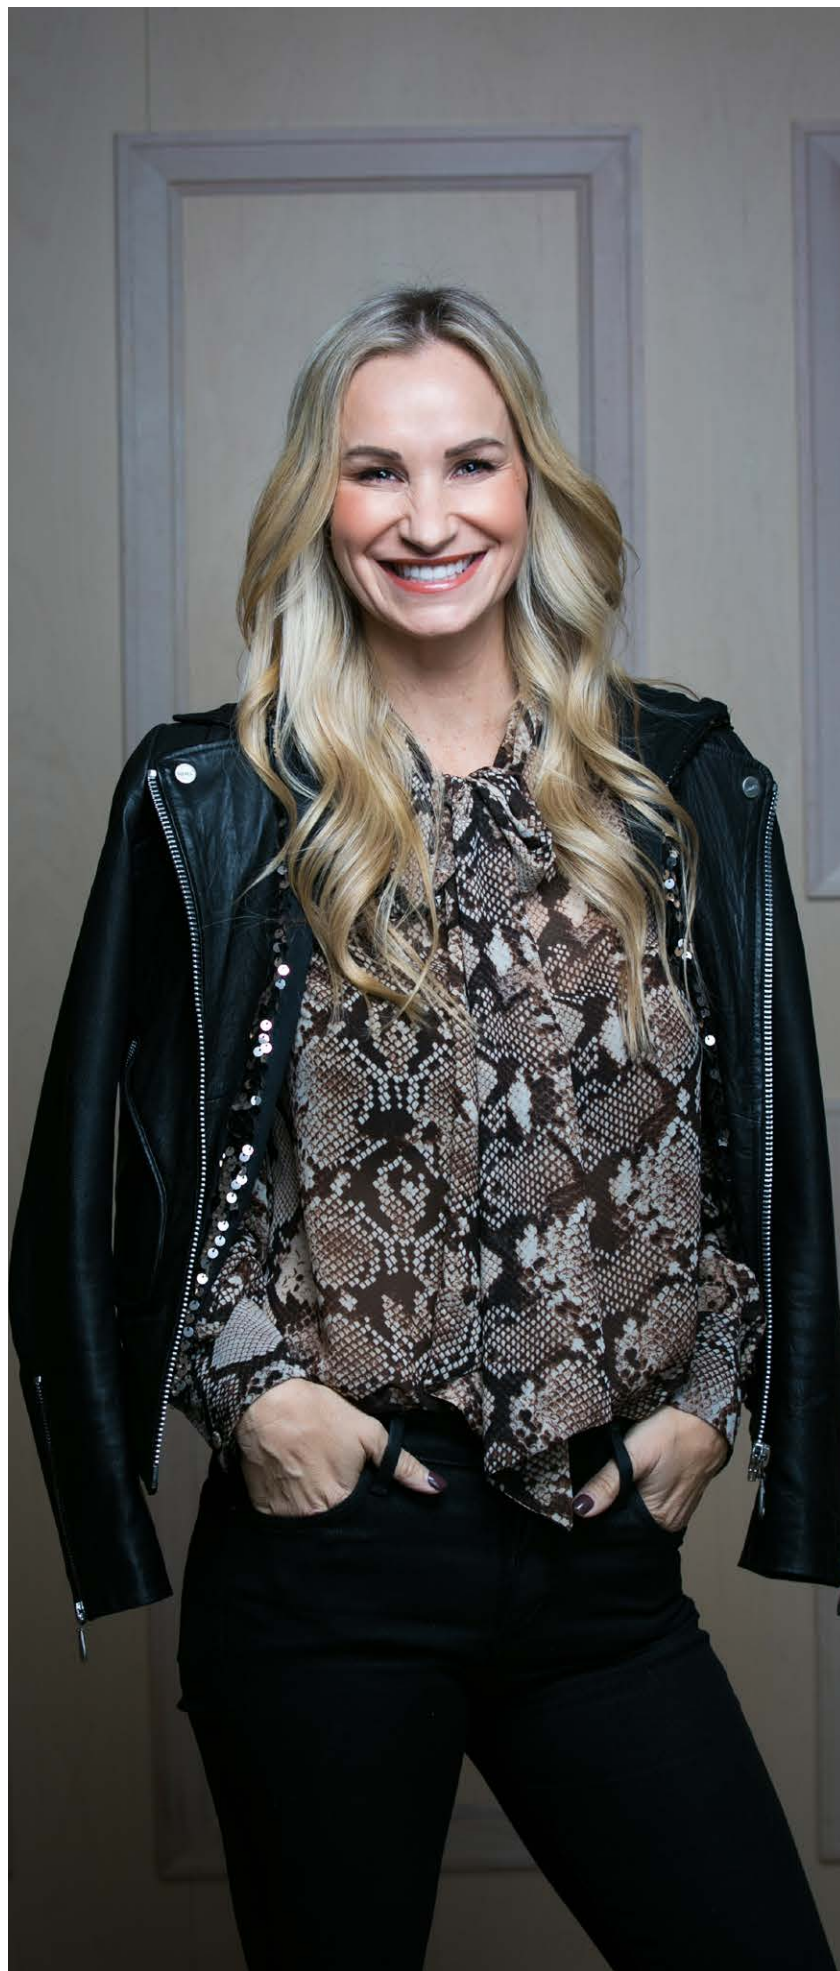

First of all, I'm a native. I grew up in Atlanta and I appreciate that you can be a new entrepreneur, but there is a big community of corporate giants that support being creative in a big city.

What's a "must-do" in the city?

I have four kids, so a "must-do" for me is the BeltLine. We love to jog, hike and play football in Piedmont Park. Then, of course, we have to run over to Two Urban Licks for a cocktail!

Which restaurant at the Airport is your favorite?

One Flew South, easily. The sushi is great!

Ryan Wilson
CEO and Co-Founder,
The Gathering Spot
thegatheringspot.club

To get a result you've never gotten, you must do something you've never done, and Ryan Wilson did just that when he introduced a newly minted co-working and social space to Atlanta, and frankly, the members-only club now dominates Atlanta's entrepreneurial society. A man of few words and immense action, Wilson and his team have now set their sights on Washington, D.C. and Los Angeles but Atlanta will always reign supreme.

Would you say Atlanta is your last stop?

I travel a lot, but I'm never leaving Atlanta. I started a business at 23 years old, raised $3 million out of Atlanta and the city has supported us in a way that I don't think you'll find anywhere else.

Do you have any advice for newcomers to the city?

Dive into the nightlife. There aren't many cities whose scene can compare to Atlanta's. Other than that, everybody should come check us out at TGS. Whether professional or social, we have it happening!

What's your favorite thing about Atlanta's Airport?

The food! You can actually sit and have a full meal, which you really can't find anywhere else.

Tahira Wright
Founder, The Cut Life
livethecutlife.com
@tahirajoy
@thecutlife

Warning: Most women that happen to encounter the effervescent style and beauty that is synonymous with socialite and entrepreneur Tahira Wright, end up getting cut short by the encounter's end. But let's be clear, getting cut off in this instance has nothing to do with personality and everything with presentation. The founder of the in-fluent brand "The Cut Life" literally inspires millions of women, daily, to embrace short and chic hairstyles.

What does Atlanta mean to you?

Atlanta, literally, raised me. I've been here since I was 9 years old. I've interned, worked in radio, record labels, started my own PR agency and started TCL five years. Atlanta is the fabric of who I am as an entrepreneur and a person.

What is your favorite thing to do in Atlanta?

Atlanta is foodie heaven. The Belt-Line is awesome and our museums are beyond. There's so much to do here.

What's your first stop when you get to Hartsfield-Jackson?

Chicken + Beer. I have to support (Ludacris). I'm pescatarian, but that restaurant pushes me to have an occasional piece of fried chicken!

Forever I Love Atlanta Airport

Destination Skypointe Salutes
Ambassadors that make
Atlanta Thrive

It's no secret that the perfectly polished floors of Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport have hosted their fair share of movers, shakers, moguls and stars. And just like the storied streets of the city, these concourses hold stories of great triumph and celebration for people from around the world. The victories are even sweeter when they involve our local heroes who, collectively, are a part of the elevation of the city.

Enter the starting lineup to our special fraternity of #SkypointeStandouts who use ATL to impart excellence around the world that forges a special connection to the city of Atlanta. These favorites in entertainment, cuisine and lifestyle have started and finished some of the most important moments of their life right here at Hartsfield-Jackson. Meet some of our favorites and learn why we think they're so fly.

CHRIS “LUDACRIS” BRIDGES

With three years in Airport business under his belt and serving as a brand ambassador, Atlanta entertainer and entrepreneur Chris “Ludacris” Bridges is feeling more like family these days. Launching a restaurant at the world’s busiest airport has immersed frequent flyers in a perfect mix of Southern comfort and nostalgic Atlanta culture.

Named after his 2003 triple-platinum album, Chicken + Beer (on Concourse D) is putting a spin on traditional Southern cuisine. From Luda’s chicken & waffles, short rib mac’n cheese, to the most delicious collard green bowl you perhaps have ever tried, it’s safe to say Chris has successfully created another hit. We must mention the beer flight of four craft brews makes for the perfect post-security celebration.

When he’s not hitting the stage, you can find him actively supporting the Ludacris Foundation, which has established multiple community initiatives for over a decade now.

As seen proudly welcoming returning travelers to Atlanta on the huge digital screen at the top of the main escalators, we’re honored to know that Chris will always call ATL as his official home.

BOBBY FLAY

In October 2018, Hartsfield-Jackson became home to the first airport location of Bobby's Burger Palace. Bobby Flay, founder of the chain, knew the timing was right because Airport food has elevated in a distinct way over the past 10 years.

"There's a noticeable increase in the quality of airport food in the States, so when the Atlanta Airport approached me, I thought this was the perfect time," said Flay. And, what better airport to launch in than the busiest airport in the world?"

Bobby's Burger Palace (BBP) is known for celebrating regional American food by elevating the humble burger. The Hartsfield-Jackson menu follows the format of the other restaurants by including a signature burger for each city with a BBP location. For Atlanta, there is the ATL Burger with pimento cheese and fried pickles. But to make any burger great, Flay said one must follow two simple steps.

"Melting the cheese perfectly is really important," said Flay.

"Also, seasoning the burger well with salt and pepper is crucial. I think some people overlook how important that is, but it really is an important step."

KILLER MIKE

When you hear the name Killer Mike, your first thoughts should be a combination of familiarity, excitement and action. The Atlanta native initially made our acquaintance by accompanying Outkast on their 2011 “Stankonia” project, where he lent his signature sound to the Grammy-winning track, “The Whole World.” Now, several albums and movies later, the published journalist, activist and businessman has elevated his personal brand and platform to another level. With the introduction of a barbering concept, The Swag Shop, to the city that has planted his feet on historic Edgewood Ave. downtown, and in the newly opened State Farm Arena, Killer Mike is winning all the accolades.

MONICA BROWN

Monica Brown couldn't be a more perfect peach. With a voice that's helped form and anchor Atlanta's R&B legacy, the mother, entrepreneur and philanthropist is in the middle of a new metamorphosis that includes TV roles and her first independently produced album. Always flawlessly representing her beloved ATL with the perfect combination of tradition, grace and sass - this Southern belle is the epitome of fly-girl goals.

Need more proof? Take a look at Brown's envy-inducing Instagram page, @monicabrown, which provides a virtual front-row seat to arenas and stages around the world, photos of joyous jaunts around the map with her family - all while staying impeccably stylish (we'd guess there's a chance that some of the Atlanta Airport's retailers know her by name). Most importantly, however, the Atlanta icon radiates love and good vibes, unabashedly, and that's what keeps her on top.

JERMAINE DUPRI

To truly understand the significance of Jermaine Dupri, one must acknowledge his 20-plus-year tenure in the industry, which includes helping one of the most influential record labels of its time—Atlanta’s So So Def Recordings. His vision and ability birthed chart-topping offerings for many, including Usher, Beyoncé, Jay-Z, TLC and award-winning work with Mariah Carey, and even himself.

Now, doing what he does best—Dupri will host a week’s worth of free, live events during Super Bowl LIII.

“Since I’ve entered the music scene, I’ve always had concerns with how people view the city of Atlanta, both musically and overall. It’s an incredible place to be, and I’m always thinking of ways to make that view better,” Dupri said during his latest press run.

Deemed the “Entertainment Mayor of Atlanta,” Dupri keeps us on our feet and the city’s swag on 100 percent. In the words of the musical mastermind, “Welcome to Atlanta!”

BRIAN LITRELL

Backstreet Boy Brian Littrell is a legend in his own right, which is why adding him to ATL's roster of brand ambassadors was a no-brainer.

The singer, songwriter and actor has lived in Atlanta for over 20 years, becoming familiar with the Airport. Brian regularly schedules time to grab a bite at The Varsity (on Concourse F) before hopping on a flight.

When Brian isn't flying through ATL, you can catch him in Las Vegas where the Backstreet Boys are a mainstay performer at the Planet Hollywood Resort and Casino and, since they'll be on a yearlong world tour soon, we'll be seeing a lot more of him at ATL. All of that traveling has made him an expert flyer. His No. 1 travel tip? "Gotta keep your head up when traveling through ATL ... stay off your phone and give yourself plenty of time."

DIKEMBE MUTOMBO

Changemaker and Basketball Hall of Famer Dikembe Mutombo has made a major impact on and off the court, helming the Dikembe Mutombo Foundation and the Biamba Marie Mutombo Hospital. Both organizations support philanthropic efforts for his home country, Democratic Republic of the Congo. The former Atlanta Hawks center also serves as a Global Ambassador for the NBA, a role that, in addition to his foundation, takes him all over the world. And, with his foundation operating right here in Atlanta for 22 years and counting, Mutombo has become a regular at Hartsfield-Jackson.

When asked why he placed roots in Atlanta, the humanitarian says, “Atlanta is a city that welcomes and appreciates people from all over the world.” As an avid globe-trotter, you may catch Mutombo at Hartsfield-Jackson in one of ATL’s lounges or newsstands, his primary go-to spots. He’s also a mainstay on the Airport’s digital arrivals screen, where you’ll find a larger-than-life image of the Atlanta icon, welcoming travelers home.

JEEZY

If seeing is believing, then witnessing the evolution of rap superstar Jeezy is a sight to behold. Standing on the rooftop of American Cut Steakhouse in Buckhead, in which the pioneering Atlanta music vet owns a stake, you'd be looking out over a city that's been thoroughly painted with his influence, literally. In 2018, Jeezy ran the annual Peachtree Road Race with Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms, raising money for three beloved charities. What can get higher than this? Maintaining a healthy lifestyle and continuing to "put on" for his city via his Street Dreamz Foundation and other organizations, like the UNCF, which he regularly supports.

ATL Skypointe Scavenger Challenge

In September 2018 we brought together a few of Atlanta's influencers and trendsetters for a family-friendly scavenger hunt through the Airport. Now you can get in on the action, too. Got a little free time before your flight? Don't hug your gate! Put your appetite to good use as you scrounge together these clues while learning more about ATL's award-winning restaurants.

1. Some people say "Dad," others say "Father," but whatever the name, we know this padre brings major flavor to the food game. Make a boomerang of your best salsa moves in front of their logo, and tag us @ATLairport to get your 15 minutes of fame!
2. Climb the Great Escalator of A Gates and you just might be humbled. If you fall off your high horse know that Paul Fleming and Philip Chiang will help guide you on this delicious course. Once you arrive, strike a royal pose with the guardian of the castle and tag us @ATLairport.
3. You no longer have to travel four hours away, they brought their treats to Atlanta and they're here to stay.
4. If you like the blues, this is the restaurant you would choose. If that's not enough, we have another clue: our blog "Destination Skypointe" spills the tea about some amazing peach glazed salmon that should tell you where you need to be!
5. Your vision may be 20/20, but we think Jay Z was seeing double? The name will remain untold but the sign is made of gold. Find the front of the club and take a picture of yourself doing something bold! Tag us @ATLairport.
6. This food and beverage selection is great for fun occasions. It's sure to be a hit so you won't have to do much persuading. All the celebs love it and are screaming, "You must try this!" And it's so good it's got everybody going Ludaeris!
7. You've finally made it to the end. But before you go, let's wine, dine and invite a friend. We'll fly south and have one of the most incredible meals! Strike a pose and tag your dinner partner who's ready to enjoy this restaurant's magical feels!

Around the World in 7 Gates

Hartsfield-Jackson boasts over 150 options for dining. In addition to Southern classics, you can find food from all corners of the world. Even if you're just flying to LA or Little Rock, take a trek around the globe with these international culinary delights. Here's where to find a bit of the world on each concourse.

Papi's Cuban & Caribbean Grill

Concourse T

CUBA

For the best Cuban food north of Havana, Atlantans have been flocking to Papi's since 2002. The secret is the time-honored recipes that founder Rey Regalado Jr. stored in his mind from his homeland, Cuba, while he fled for freedom. Don't miss the Cuban Sandwich with black beans and rice or the Tostones Supremos—a take on loaded nachos but with smashed and deep fried green plantains topped with meat, mozzarella cheese and pico de gallo.

Varasano's Pizzeria

Concourse A

ITALY

One man's quest to recreate the memory of his favorite childhood pizza has turned into an international cult following. Consistently rated one of Atlanta's best, Verasano's Pizza is a solid choice when all the details – from the flour to the type of oven used – are carefully conceived. Nana's, the house special, has their famous sourdough crust with mozzarella, San Marzano tomato sauce and a secret blend of herbs. Added bonus: a piano bar.

Cafe Intermezzo

Concourse B

GERMANY

During a trip to his homeland of Germany, Brian Olson became enamored by how life unfolded in European cafés. In the airport outpost of the beloved Atlanta restaurant, it's this idea of sit, stay and drink for a while that guides the ethos that guests can experience. The menu features not only traditional café items such as soups, sandwiches and hot beverages, but amazing breakfast entrees. With cozy lighting and book-lined walls, it serves as a respite between flights

Baja Fresh

Concourse C

MEXICO

No need to wait for Tuesday to enjoy tacos. For over two decades, Baja Fresh Mexican Grill has been serving up fresh, authentic Mexican fare. If tacos aren't your thing, treat yourself to a burrito or Baja bowl. Either way, your tastebuds will be convinced that you drifted south of the border.

Mustard Seed BBQ

Concourse D

UNITED STATES

In the United States, the South is known for its Bs: bacon, bourbon and barbecue. You can indulge in two out of the three at Mustard Seed BBQ. Pitmaster Bertram McCray has added his own spin to the Southern favorite by crafting a tangy mustard-based barbecue sauce. Start with his signature ribs to uncover the beginnings of McCray's 10-year journey.

One Flew South

Concourse E

JAPAN

While One Flew South has coined the term, "Southernational" to describe its global menu, it also has a full sushi menu that rivals any traditional Japanese restaurant. For both menus, the ingredients are sourced from local farmers and purveyors to produce a world-class experience. All of this is served in a zen environment flanked by a Georgia forest mural and wood panels.

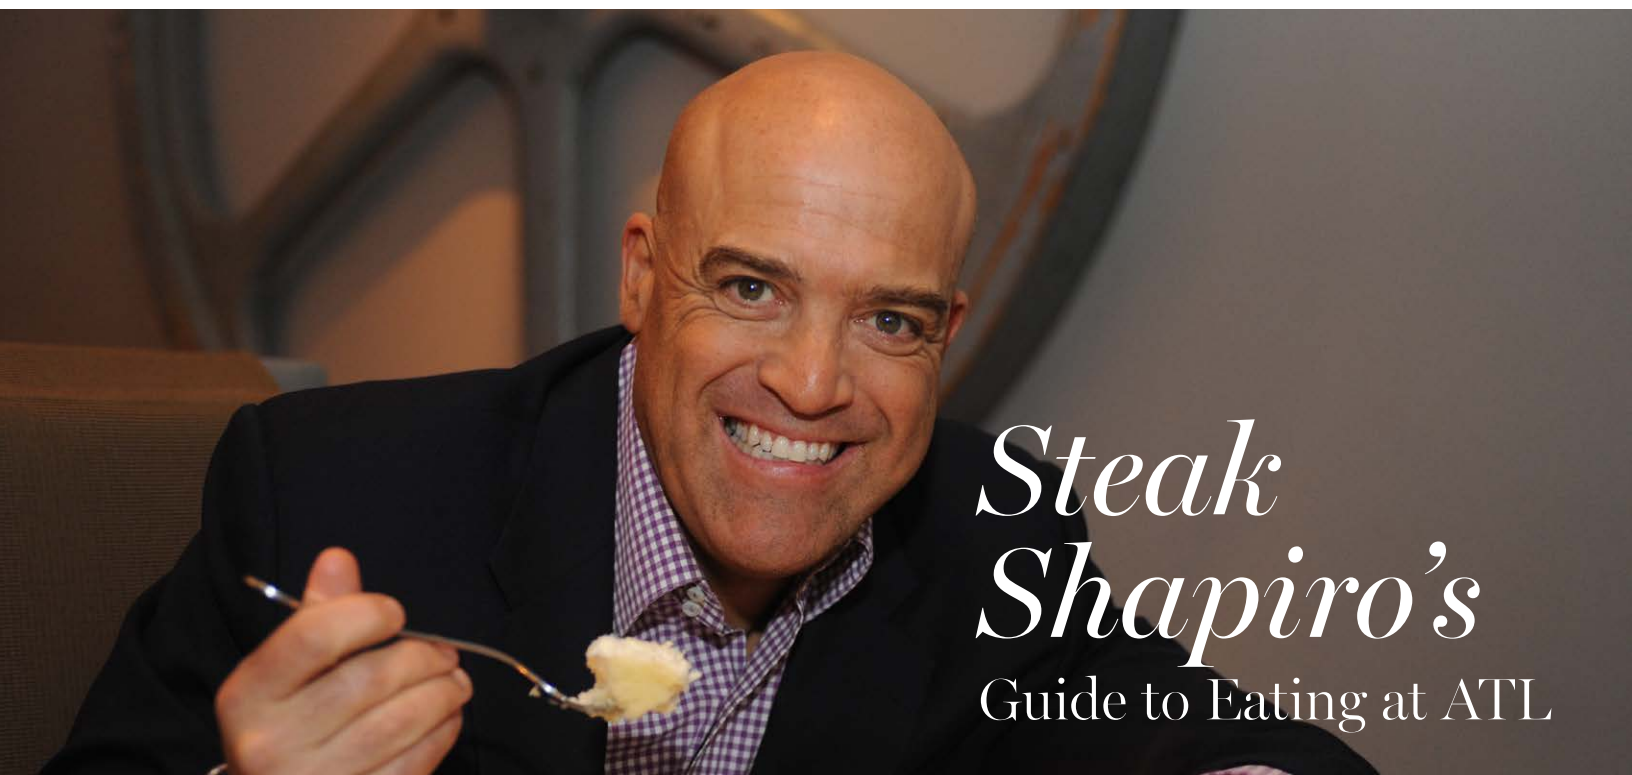

Maison Mathis Belgian Beer Transit

Concourse F

BELGIUM

Belgium's food-friendly beers guide the menu choices at this delicious restaurant. With a wide assortment of Belgian tipples accompanied by classic dishes, you'll feel as if you cozied up to a pub in Brussels, even if your final destination is Boston.

A Taste of Jekyll Island:

Jekyll Island Seafood Company

with Alnissa Ruiz-Craig

When you work in the world's busiest airport, one of the perks is all the amazing lunchtime options available in your backyard. In this edition of Employees Only, Alnissa Ruiz-Craig dishes about one of her favorite lunchtime haunts Jekyll Island Seafood Company. Ruiz-Craig is the Communications Manager in the Office of Policy and Communications and also the writer behind the ATL Skypointe blog. Jekyll Island Seafood Company is located on Concourse F.

One of my favorite things about food (and eating in general) is that it gives you an opportunity to experience different cultures and visit different places without leaving your seat. Your experience at Jekyll Island Seafood Company will be no different. Regardless of what your airline ticket says, the meal here will transport you to one of the Golden Isles of Georgia's barrier islands.

Located on Concourse F, the feel at Jekyll Island Seafood Company offers an open view of the everyday bustle of the Hartsfield-Jackson, while also giving you the intimate feel of a traditional sit-down restaurant. The menu has a fair amount of options to choose from. From salads, sandwiches, starters and entrees—finding something to suit your taste should not be a problem. They also offer a vast selection of wine and beer as well as six signature entrees with the cutest names, each one representing Georgia (my personal favorite is the Scarlett O'Hara.)

To start, I opted for the Jekyll Island wings with a side of their Parmesan Fries. Let me be the one to tell you, these are not your average buffalo wings. Seasoned with the bold flavors of garlic and cumin, I hardly even reached to dip them in the accompanying side of buffalo sauce because they were so flavorful on their own.

Another of my favorites on the menu are the Crawfish Tacos. A cool twist on one of my favorite foods and a dish I highly recommend. Salty bites of fried crawfish on a corn tortilla topped with a sweet and briny pineapple salsa. One word—delicious!

I closed out my meal with a Southern staple, the quintessential Shrimp and Grits. This favorite is a dish that this Northern girl didn't grow up eating, but is now a "go to" dish whenever I go out to eat. It would appear that I'm on a personal quest to try all the Shrimp and Grits of the world. The one at Jekyll Island Seafood Company did not disappoint—large, juicy and flavorful shrimp on top of a bed of creamy grits with some fried onion rings for another added crispy layer of flavor.

If you're in the mood for seafood and want to enjoy a nice sit-down meal with good atmosphere, Jekyll Island Seafood Company is the perfect place. So if your gate is not on Concourse F, I encourage you to board the Plane Train and take that short ride over to Hartsfield-Jackson's piece of Georgia's Golden Isle.

You won't be disappointed.

Eat, Drink, Repeat!

We usually aren't in the business of bragging (besides excitedly reminding people that we're the world's busiest and most efficient airport), but what other airport offers travelers five-star and award-winning culinary options as part of the travel experience? Welcome to Taste of Hartsfield-Jackson, a tremendous showcase of our delicious and decadent eateries in all their splendor. Hungry? Why wait? Now boarding your round-trip flight to sip and savor ATL style.

Enjoy these tastes at home

If you're looking for a bite that's easy to fly with, here are some of our favorite recipes from Hartsfield-Jackson restaurants. Whether you're into peach cobbler or smoothies, we've got you covered.

1 Southern Roast Pork Sandwich

MUSTARD SEED BBQ (CONCOURSE D)

BBQ Dry Rub for Pork Roast (with coffee)

- 1/3 cup kosher salt
- 3 tbs black pepper
- 4 tbs of finely ground coffee
- 1 ½ tbs smoked paprika
- 2 tbs chili powder
- 2 tbs onion powder
- 2 tbs garlic powder
- 2 tbs light brown sugar
- 2 tsp dried oregano
- 1 tsp cayenne pepper

Add all dry ingredients and mix thoroughly and reserve in bowl on side.

For the Pork

- 1 (4-6 lb) pork shoulder or butt, roast
- 1 (4-6 lb) pork shoulder or butt roast
- 2 carrots (medium)
- 4 stalks celery
- 1 fennel bulb
- 4 cups water

1. Generously rub with BBQ Dry Rub to coat the entire roast (Let sit out at room temperature for 2 hours before cooking – this helps the fat melt and render much quicker).

2. Rough chop onion, celery, carrot and fennel and place in bottom of roasting pan.

3. Add water to pan, place roast on top of vegetables and wrap tightly with aluminum foil.

4. Place in 325-degree oven for 5 ½ to 6 hours or until tender.

Pickled Red Onion

- 3 cups sliced red onion
- 4 cloves garlic
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1/6 cup salt
- 1/2 tsp peppercorns
- 2 ¼ cups red wine vinegar
- 1 cup red wine

1. Add all ingredients to pot with exception of onions. Bring to a boil to dissolve all dry seasoning.

2. In separate bowl, add sliced onion and reserve on side.

3. Once liquid comes to a boil, pour pickling liquid over the top on onions and let sit for a minimum of 2 hours (the longer they sit, the better they will get)

Bacon Pimento Spread

- 6 slices bacon (thick cut)
- 1 ½ cups Hellman's mayonnaise
- 6 oz cream cheese, softened
- 1 (4 oz) jar diced pimentos, drained
- 1 jalapeño pepper, seeded and minced

- 2-3 scallions, diced
- 2 cups extra sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
- 2 cups pepper jack cheese, shredded
- Salt and pepper, to taste

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
2. Cook bacon until crisp and place on paper towel absorb excess fat.
3. Fine chop jalapeño and finely sliced green onions.
4. Add remaining ingredients to bowl and reserve on side.
5. Chop bacon into small bite-size pieces.
6. Add chopped bacon, minced jalapeño and sliced scallions to remaining mixture and mix thoroughly.

5. Place in cooler for future use, the warmer it is, the easier it is to spread.

Build the Sandwich

- BBQ Coffee Rubbed Pork Butt or Shoulder
- Pickled Red Onion
- Bacon Pimento Spread
- Brioche Bun
- Baby Arugula
- Pickles
- Roasted Jalapeño Pepper
- Bamboo Skewer

1. Slice the pork into ¼ inch thick slices
2. Toast Brioche bun.
3. Once the bun is toasted, place generous portion of bacon and jalapeno pimento spread on top half of the bun. On bottom half of the bun, place the sliced pork and top with pickled red onions and fresh baby arugula.

4. This version is garnished with a roasted whole jalapeño, which was simply blistered in a skillet and finished in the oven for 13 minutes at 250 degrees (only recommended if you like the heat). Place bamboo skewer to hold jalapeño and sandwich in place.

2 Overtime (Berry Beets)

WE JUICE IT (ATRIUM)

¾ cup beets
¾ cup blueberries
¾ cup blackberries
2 leaves kale
1 red apple

1. Add beets, blueberries, blackberries, kale and apple to blender.
2. Blend until smooth and enjoy.

3 Pre-Game (Carrot/Turmeric)

WE JUICE IT (ATRIUM)

4 slices mango
¾ cup pineapples
3 oz orange juice
1 pear
1 carrot
1 tsp turmeric (raw or powdered)

1. Add mango, pineapple, pear, carrot, orange juice and turmeric to blender.
2. Blend until smooth and enjoy.

4 Phillips Signature Crab Cakes

PHILLIPS SEAFOOD (CONCOURSE D)

1 lb Phillips lump crab meat
1 egg
2 tsp Worcestershire sauce
¼ tsp dry mustard
2 tbsp mayonnaise
1 tsp lemon juice
1 tbsp mustard
1 tbsp melted butter
1 tsp parsley flakes
1 tsp Phillips Seafood Seasoning
½ cup breadcrumbs

1. Preheat oven to 375 degrees.
2. In a large mixing bowl, combine all ingredients except for crab meat.
3. Gently fold in the crab meat, being careful not to break up the lumps.
4. Shape into cakes.
5. Pan fry or bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes or until evenly brown on each side and cakes reach an internal temperature of 165 degrees.

5 Paschal's Famous Peach Cobbler

PASCHAL'S (CONCOURSE B)

Filling

5 lbs peaches (fresh or canned)
2 cups sugar
¼ cup vanilla
½ tsp nutmeg

1 stick butter
½ cup cornstarch
½ cup ice cold water

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.
2. Combine all ingredients, bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. Remove from heat.
3. Mix cornstarch and water until combined, then slowly pour into peaches until thickened.

Crust

1 cup flour
1 tbsp sugar
1 tsp salt
¼ cup of shortening
1 cup water
1 cup ice

1. Mix dry ingredients together.
2. Add shortening in pastry blender and mix until course crumbles form.
3. Combine ice and cold water. Pour water only into mixture, not letting ice chunks fall into mixture.
4. Form dough into a ball then roll out and place over peaches. Brush dough with butter and sprinkle with sugar.
5. Bake 35 to 45 minutes at 350 degrees is topping is brown.

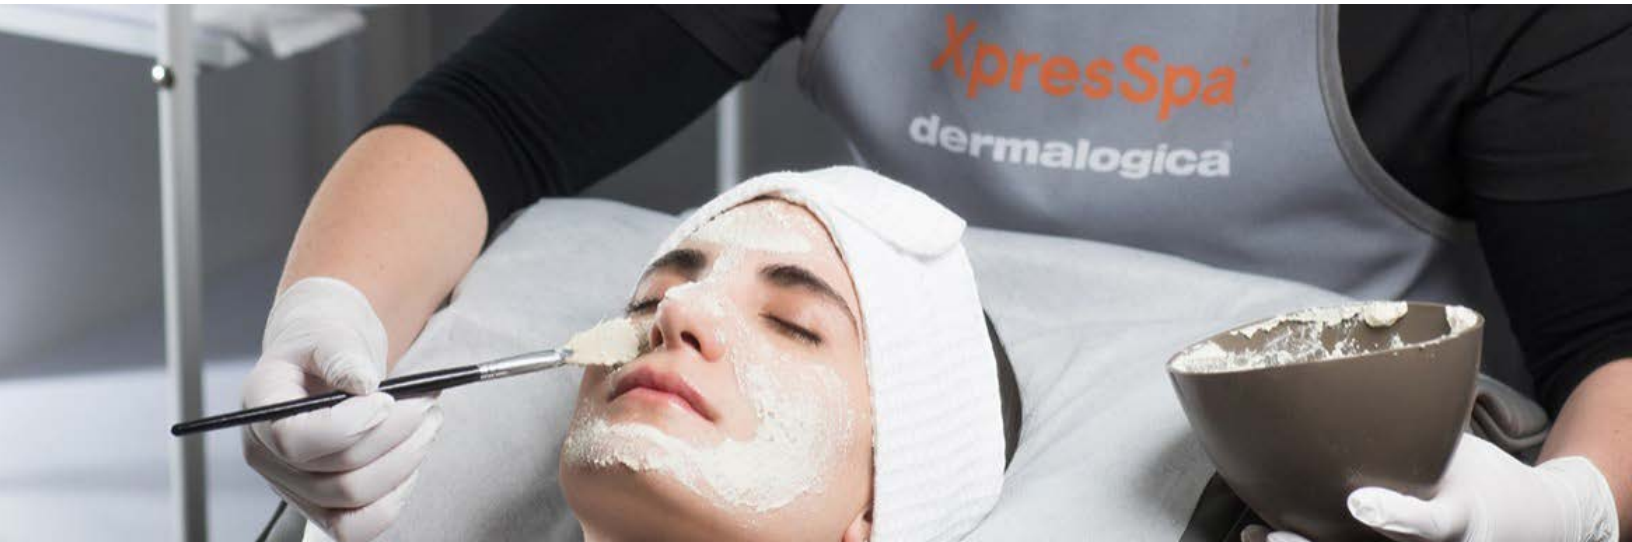

Optional: Refrigerated or frozen pie crust.

It Feels Good

It is undisputed that flying can trigger anxiety. No matter how seasoned a traveler, for some, commuting through the air thousands of feet off the ground can come with some stress. The skies, however, can be friendly, especially when your pre-flight ritual includes moments that help you breathe, stretch, shake and let it go. Luckily, we've done the work for you with our five tips for relaxing on the fly.

Hear No Evil

The right music and the perfect headphones can be your in-flight best friend, so put together a playlist of songs that make you feel unabashedly at ease. If you forget to pack them, or simply don't have a pair of headphones, grab some at several of the newsstands and tech stores right inside of ATL

Escape the Ordinary

If the hustle and bustle of travel sends you reeling, spend your pre-flight time somewhere a little less busy, but a lot more refined. Take a seat in one of our state-of-the-art lounges where cocktails and light bites abound. Stay connected to your flight with ATL's iFly app (available for iPhone and Android devices), but disconnect and temporarily dive into a well-designed moment of self-satisfaction.
