National Insider Threat Awareness Month

September 2022 is the fourth annual National Insider Threat Awareness Month. Insider threat continues to be a growing concern to organizations of all sizes. There are clear warning signs, that if properly identified, can mitigate the risk before any malicious attack occurs. As the first line of defense, we can help alleviate the threat risk by increasing awareness and reporting concerning behaviors within the workplace. One way of doing this is by monitoring employees who display the following behavioral indicators:

Key Indicators of Unusual Behavior

- Unexplained poor performance
- Displeased employees
- Financial distress
- Odd working hours
- Unexpected Resignation

We each have a responsibility to ensure the protection of our organization. Remain aware and remain alert!
